HR Helpline

With the ever changing employment law landscape, employers of all sizes need fast, efficient and commercial advice from people you know you can trust.

At Seddons we understand these issues and that sometimes there is a real danger of costs spiraling out of control. This is why we have developed the Seddons HR Helpline, so that seeking advice on HR and employment issues is as pain free as possible. Unlike many other helplines our team are fully qualified solicitors, not unqualified 'advisers', with a wealth of knowledge and experience gained across a wide range of sectors. We have the expertise and commercial acumen to answer all your queries and provide solutions for your business.

For an annual fixed cost you can phone or email our employment law experts with any HR queries you have on issues including, but not limited to:

- Exiting employees
- Disciplinary and grievance issues and procedures
- Managing long term/persistent sickness and absences
- Changing terms and conditions of employment
- Redundancies and restructures
- Flexible working requests
- Data subject access requests
- Managing stress, bullying, harassment and discrimination
- Drug and alcohol misuse
- Performance management
- Advice around 'TUPE' issues
- Secondments and sabbaticals
- Settlement agreements
- Fixed term and casual worker issues
- Advice around statutory and contractual entitlements/benefits
- Social media issues affecting employees
- Breaches of IT and communications policies
- 'Family friendly' leave issues
- Holiday leave and pay
- Recruitment
